

HOME HAPPENINGS

The summer of 1916 is furnishing the hot stuff all right.

To get a move on the first of this week meant to get a sweating out.

Anyhow, the town that supports a Chautauqua shows that it is a live one.

Thursday morning the mercury registered 98 degrees which is some drop from Monday which had a temperature of 98.

The Girls' Club was pleasantly entertained last Friday evening by Miss Althea Zieger at her home near New Middletown.

While attending the chautauqua Tuesday night C. C. Neff lost a $20 bill and he will be glad to pay a reward for its return.

Mr. Truesdale of Jefferson set out 500 Everleaf strawberry plants last spring and is now enjoying fresh strawberries daily.

Monday was the hottest day of the season, the mercury registering 98 degrees in the shade. An Cleveland it was reported 104 in the shade.

Tuesday afternoon brought a good shower and the temperature dropped many degrees. Wednesday morning there was a near chill in the air.

There is said to be trouble brewing for the parties who last Saturday night destroyed property on Broad street and damaged several road signs.

A dozen Boy Scouts from Salem, camping on the banks of the Maumee, being the two and half year old child of Robert Gorton, who was taken sick Sunday.

A band of gypsies passed through the village Monday afternoon, a half being made to swap horses or tell fortunes. Both old games, seemingly, have had their day.

A fine rain came Tuesday afternoon just as the first session of the chautauqua opened and served to cool the air in some degree for a time. But more rain and less heat is still the cry.

Flavelly-Smart & Co., local agents for Dodge automobiles, have received a 1917 model touring car which will be used as a demonstrator. The car is a beauty and is attracting much attention.

The county teachers' institute opens in Canfield next Monday. A daily newspaper, giving full reports of institute doings will be issued from the Dispatch office as has been the custom for several years.

A number of Salem newspaper men attended the chautauqua in Canfield Tuesday night and heard Col. Miller's fine address. Among them were R. B. Thompson, Harry Gager, Mr. Hawley and Paul Weiss.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Taylor, superintendent and matron of the county infirmary for quite a number of years, are arranging to retire within a few weeks. They have a fine new home about completed a short distance west of Austintown.

D. W. Galehouse, county agricultural agent, was called to Akron Wednesday to see a brother who is suffering with lockjaw and is in a serious condition. The unfortunate man injured one of his fingers early in the week and lockjaw developed.

County superintendent of schools Jerome Hall believes the Canfield educational exhibit will be one of the finest ever seen in the state. Schools throughout the county have been taking a lively interest in the matter the past year and the showing at the fair is sure to be large and fine.

Rev. T. L. Kiernan occupied his pulpit in the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning after spending a vacation of several weeks at Lakeside, a large congregation greeting him. A pleasing feature of the services was the singing of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Edwards of Washington, D. C., who are here visiting.

Automobiles of the antique order were much in evidence last Sunday when it seemed that every old bus that could turn a wheel was out for a spin. And to all outward appearances the people who occupied the ancient cars got just as much enjoyment out of riding as those who traveled in luxurious twelve-cylinder machines.

The management of the county fair is bending every effort to make the exposition in Canfield September 6 and 7 the most pleasing and profitable in the history of the society. Entries are already being filed and indications point to well-filled halls and barns. The educational exhibit will be much larger than last year. All school children will be admitted free on Wednesday, the big day of the fair.

Taxpayers whose valuations have been arbitrarily increased by county boards of revision will be pleased to learn that Attorney General Turner has declared that such action on the part of these boards is illegal and that it was not taken in compliance with any ruling from his department, although a basket picnic for their im-

He says that no board can raise a taxpayer's valuation unless evidence is found that the taxpayer has omitted some of his property from his return.

PIANO TUNING & REPAIRING

To my friends and patrons of former years I wish to announce that I will be in Canfield from Aug. 12th to Sept. 2nd, inclusive.

Any work in my line, that of piano tuning, regulating and repairing in Canfield or neighboring towns that is held for me until that time will receive careful and thorough attention. Organ work also taken.

Five years factory experience and ten years spent in warehouses handling such well known makes as Kautz, Hardman, Mehlin, Estey, Kimball and others are a guarantee of satisfactory work.

Drop a card or phone Canfield 148.

CANFIELD'S CHAUTAUQUA IS ON

The Colt-Alber Chautauqua Co. on Monday placed its large tent on the vacant lot near town hall and Tuesday afternoon the five-day program opened. Great crowds are attending the afternoon and evening performances. The junior chautauqua is pleasing a large number of little folks, and this feature will no doubt be continued in the future. In the main the chautauqua numbers thus far given have been pleasing and indications are that the attendance will greatly surpass that of last year. Mr. Graf of Dubois, Pa., is the chautauqua manager and is doing everything in his power to please the people. The program for Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening will be unusually pleasing.

NEW SOCIETY ORGANIZED

At a meeting held in town hall Monday night the Mahoning County Horticultural Society was organized and plans were made to hold an apple show in Youngstown early in December.

It is planned that all the farmers in Mahoning county whether they are members of the society or not will have an opportunity to display apples and other fruits at this show.

D. W. Galehouse, superintendent of the county experiment farm at Canfield, is responsible for the organization of the new horticultural society and is also the father of the apple show idea. At the meeting Monday night C. J. Roller was elected president and A. B. Williamson was elected secretary and treasurer. Although the society at present only numbers about 15 members it is safe to say that number will soon be increased to from 75 to 100.

Adjourned to meet with Mrs. Leyman Sept. 15 at 2:30 p. m. eastern time.

We want just as many members to be present as possible and let each one take a friend and do her part to make it so interesting that they will say, "I am glad you asked me to go. I will go again and join with you." There is material for a large union in Canfield. Why can't we have it?

PA ON THE SEASON

The apples they are ripening. The peaches getting ripe. The pumpkin on the pumpkin vine. Is putting in its stripes. The daisies they are blooming. The poppies they are dead. And even the Chrysanthemums. Begin to show their red.

Out yonder by the garden. Our hollyhocks they grew. Their stalks are brown and withered. Their blooming time is through. The pink bed it is barren. The roses they have flown. And even our tomatoes. Are getting overgrown.

Pa sits out in the gloaming. Beneath the grapevine hid. And listens to the music. Of a lonely katydid. And then he calls Lize to him. And maybe calls us all. And tells us that the Katydids. Says, six weeks more till fall.

And then Pa says some instinct. Has taught that bird to sing. Just like it tells the frogs. The coming of the spring. Then Pete he asks Pa tell him. Is the Katydids a bird. And Pa he gets confused at that. And never says a word.

Just then a big mosquito. Comes sailing through the air. And in the trowsey head of Lize. Gets tangled in her hair. You ought to see Pa fight it. Lize thought it was a bee. And Pa he said in killing it. "I'm glad salvation's free."

SUCCESS.

Believe with all your heart that you will do what you were made to do. Never for an instant harbor a doubt of this. Drive it out of your mind if it seeks entrance. Entertain only the friend thoughts or ideals of the thing you are bound to achieve. Reject all thought enemies, all discouraging moods—everything which would even suggest failure or unhappiness.

Water and Greens For Chicks

During the spells of hot weather the drinking water for chicks should be replenished at least twice a day. Hot, stale water is not appetizing and will have the same sickening effect upon fowls as it will upon mankind. Unless they consume plenty of water the birds will not only suffer greatly from the heat, but will be unable to contribute much to the summer egg yield.

Bad odors arise with double strength on hot days, especially on premises that are not kept clean. Not only should the droppings be frequently gathered, but disinfectants must be employed. Bad odors harbor disease germs, and so long as they are present the health of the flock is kept in jeopardy. Another fruitful source of disease is unclean drinking vessels. Once a week they should have a good cleaning. A small lump of lime constantly kept in the vessel will assist greatly in purifying the drinking water.

During hot spells plenty of green food should be given and the quantity of heating food reduced. Green food has a medicinal effect. It keeps the bowels in good shape and it prevents scrofula taints of the blood. Fowls enjoy greens best in the morning. It seems to be a brace for them, and it is then that it apparently does them the most good.

The people who cry over their own spilled milk are most apt to crowd over other people's.

Good goods come in small packages, and the best resolutions are the most fragile.

You never can tell. Many a man who boasts of his blue blood has a red nose.

Blue blood may be all right for so-called aristocrats but the old fashioned crimson brand is good enough for men who do things.

Some men never miss the water while the beer holds out.

Our actions seldom tally with our good intentions.

The matrimonial tie often turns out to be a noose.

Self love is the kind that never gets cold feet.

The matchmaking mamma may start things, but she doesn't always set the world on fire.

When we speak of the higher education we don't necessarily mean a course in aviation.

RHEUMATISM

In winter, when the snow is slushy, and when the rain is wet and cold, the climate soggy, soft and mushy, the rheumatism swats the old.

The young may view the winter weather without a quiver or a quake, and go sleigh riding all together, impervious to pain and ache; the more the wire edged winds are blowing, the better time the youngsters have; the more the elements are snowing, the less they yearn for pills and salve.

But I no longer am a chicken; I'm in the sere and yellow leaf; by weight of years I'm amply stricken, and winter brings me only grief. The rheumatism's in my ankles, and in my large but shapely feet, and there for weeks the anguish rankles, and makes me cuss things and repeat. My disposition once was sunny, my heart was free from wrath and guile, and people came and spent their money to see my wide and balmy smile. But since I've had the rheumatism, my cheerful smiles have all been canned; you need but mention optimism if you would have a row on hand.

There is one meager consolation that gives my soul a ray of cheer; in all this broad and mighty nation, I am the foremost weather-seer. When rheumatism racks my hinges, and doth my bones and sinews strike, I can by studying the twinges, tell what the weather will be like.
